SENATE ADJOURNS.

Resolutions Expressing Regret and Sorrow of That Body.

Washington, Jan. 24.—The session of the Senate to-day was held entirely with reference to the death of Senator Alger. The Rev. Dr. Edward Everett Hale delivered a special prayer, after which the reading of the Journal was interrupted by Senator Burrows, who presented resolutions expressing the regret and sorrow of the body at the sudden death, and providing for a special committee of twelve Senators to represent the Senate at the funeral in this city and attend the body to Detroit.

The resolutions further extended an invitation to the Michigan delegation in the House to attend the services and accompany the body to Detroit.

The resolutions were agreed to, and then the Senate at 12:17 adjourned as a further mark of respect.

DECLARED M'KINLEY LACKED BACKBONE.

In a Posthumous Interview Gen. Alger Tells of His Retirement From the Cabinet.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 24.—The Milwaukee Journal to-day prints a long interview with Gen. Russell A. Alger, which was obtained in Detroit on March 4, 1900, giving the inside facts regarding his resignation from McKinley's Cabinet and his election later to a seat in the United States Senate. Gen. Alger exacted a promise from the Journal at the time the interview was given that nothing would be published with regard to it until after his death.

Gen. Alger told the Journal that on account of severe criticism against him during the Spanish-American War he three times offered to resign from the Cabinet, but that each time President McKinley would not listen to such a plan and that the President said he would quit the presidency before he would allow Alger to leave the Cabinet.

Gen. Alger said that the sequel showed how much McKinley's words were worth, in that later his resignation was accepted because the President was "embarrassed" and "annoyed" because of Alger's alleged alliance with Gov. Pinckney in a plan to elect Alger to the United States Senate over McKinley after the latter had promised to give way to Gen. Alger after his term as McKinley's term was up.

Gen. Alger said that McKinley lacked backbone. "Early in the spring of 1899, some time after the final arrangements of terms of peace had been made with Spain, I happened to be in Detroit and some influential people of my home city came to me and asked me to run for the United States Senate, and I told them that I would do so," said Gen. Alger.

"It was a step that had long been in my mind. Six years before I had been urged to be a candidate, but I told James McMillan, who at that time was seeking the position, that I would not oppose him. I added, however, that six years later, when his term was up, I would probably be a candidate for the place. McMillan immediately agreed that he would retire in my interest at the end of the term, not only that, but while I was Secretary of War he came to me repeatedly and told me the same thing, and he voluntarily made this promise fifty times or more to friends of mine at Washington."

Gen. Alger told of a meeting in Detroit in June, 1899, at which Gov. Pinckney and twenty or twenty-five other State officials asked him to run for the Senate, and he promised them that he would. The news of the meeting leaked out and on Gen. Alger's return to Washington he was informed by a newspaper man that President McKinley was annoyed because he (Gen. Alger) was a member of his official family, had formed an alliance with a man hostile to him—meaning Gov. Pinckney—against a firm supporter of the Administration—Senator McMillan.

Gen. Alger placed no credence in the report. Later, however, when in New York he received a telegram from Vice President Hobart asking him to run down to his summer home at West End, Long Branch, where he was informed by Mr. Hobart that the President was embarrassed because Gen. Alger had formed an alliance with Pinckney against so strong an Administration man as Senator McMillan.

Continuing, Gen. Alger said: "Hobart and I said little or nothing more about the matter, but when I returned to Washington I went to the President and asked him why, inasmuch as I had already said I would not and directly with him, he had not spoken to me instead of troubling poor Hobart about the matter. The only thing I asked the President if I had really embarrassed him."

"Yes," he said, "you have embarrassed me and I am annoyed."

"I told him that I could readily relieve his embarrassment by resigning from his Cabinet."

"I have not asked you to resign," he said, "I shall never ask you to resign."

"But I wrote out my resignation and sent it to the President. In the meantime McMillan had announced his candidacy for re-election to the Senate, a most dishonorable thing to do, in view of his promise to me any man who, before I had resigned as Secretary of War, even before I had seen the President regarding the matter, managed to me. I decided, in order to prevent a fight among the Republicans of Michigan—a fight I should have won, however—to withdraw as a candidate for the Senate. But I did not tell the President that I had decided to quit the senatorial contest. The only thing I said to give me, you see, was to abandon the fight against McMillan in order to WHITE BREAD Makes Trouble For People With Weak Intestinal Digestion.

A lady in a Wis. town employed a physician who instructed her not to eat white bread for two years. She tells the details of her sickness and she certainly was a sick woman.

"In the year 1887 I gave out from overwork and until the year 1890 I remained in bed a great part of the time. Had different doctors but nothing seemed to help. I suffered from constipation, bro-spal congestion, female trouble and serious stomach and bowel trouble. My husband called a new doctor and after having gone without any food for 10 days the doctor ordered Grape-Nuts for me. I could eat the new food from the very first mouthful. The doctor kept me on Grape-Nuts and the only medicine was a little glycerine to help. I suffered from constipation and I was in good time and have gained in strength so I can do my own work again."

"My brain has been helped so much, and I know that the Grape-Nuts food did this, too. I found I did not need it because I was not fed right, that is I did not properly digest white bread and some other food I tried to live on. I have never been without Grape-Nuts food since and eat it every day. You may publish this letter if you like so it will help someone else."

save my place in the Cabinet. I had already decided to quit the senatorial contest, but without letting the President know of this determination I simply resigned as Secretary of War. A few days after this I received from the President his written acceptance of my resignation. Then I went to the President and told him that when I had accepted a place in his Cabinet I had not surmised my citizenship."

The Journal in explanation of how it obtained the interview, says: "Soon after Gen. Alger retired from President McKinley's Cabinet it was announced that he was writing a history of the Spanish War. A statesman of national reputation, knowing that Gen. Alger was writing this history, asked the Journal to obtain and publish the General's version of his management of the war with Spain. Henry C. Campbell, then and now managing editor of the Journal, was assigned the duty of interviewing Mr. Alger."

"An appointment was made by telephone and on March 4, 1900, in the General's home in Detroit, the former Minister of War gave his version of his retirement from McKinley's Cabinet. After going over the details of the war from his point of view, the correspondent asked him just what had been the cause of his retirement from the Cabinet."

"I will tell you," he said, "but you must promise me not to publish, while I am alive, a word of what I say. If I am something not even in my book. This promise was given and kept."

WHY SHONTS QUIT

Canal Management Was Being Taken From Him.

PRESIDENT AND TAFT WILL NOW DO JOB THEMSELVES.

HAD BEEN FRICTION BETWEEN SHONTS AND SECRETARY.

NEWS NOTES OF THE CAPITAL.

Washington, Jan. 24.—[Special.]—The retirement of Theodore Shonts as Chairman of the Isthmian Canal Commission means that President Roosevelt is to dig the canal himself. John P. Stevens, the present chief engineer, will be nominally the chairman, but the President, with Secretary Taft as his first lieutenant, will be the actual directing head.

The resignation of Mr. Shonts was entirely agreeable to both Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Taft. Indeed, it may be said to have been wished by them, for it gave them the line they were casting around for. Under the new system the offices at Washington, where Mr. Shonts has been in charge, will perform but the ordinary clerical duties connected with the canal administration.

The meetings of the commission hereafter will be held on the Isthmus, and the aim will be to give practical first hand attention to the needs of the situation on the ground. Mr. Stevens, however, will devote himself solely to the engineering problems, leaving to the President and Secretary Taft the handling of any question of policy that may arise.

Has Been Friction.

That there has been friction between Mr. Taft and Chairman Shonts over certain matters of policy has been fully attested from time to time for months past, but publications of the fact accompanied by intimations of Mr. Shonts' resignation were met with the usual official denials.

At the bottom, the dissatisfaction of Mr. Shonts was due to the fact that the canal management was being taken so surely, but slowly, from his hands as to be gradually reducing his position to that of Chief Clerk. This was far from agreeable to a man who had been a controlling factor in the biggest sort of way in the construction and of railroad work.

Mr. Shonts' determination to leave the commission came finally when the President made his trip to Panama. He realized that any degree of success in the canal work after that would go to the President, while probably any failures might be allowed to rest upon his shoulders.

Under these circumstances, Mr. Shonts concluded to accept the tender made by Paul Morton, of the presidency of the Interborough-Metropolitan Company, of New York. Mr. Morton had already talked the matter over with the President and Secretary Taft, and found them perfectly satisfied for Mr. Shonts to quit the service of the Government.

Harrison and Wallace.

Indiana politicians in Washington are much interested in the question whether the late President Harrison or Gen. Lew Wallace shall have a place in Statuary Hall alongside of Oliver B. Morton. A delegation of Indiana has been in Washington for several days canvassing the departments for signatures of Indiana people to a memorial to be presented to the State Legislature asking that Wallace be named.

About 500 names were secured, including ten members of the Indiana delegation, Controller Tracewell and other prominent Hoosiers. While Harrison has the weight of having served as President on his side, he is handicapped by the fact that he was not native born, his birthplace being Ohio, whereas Gen. Wallace was a native of the State.

James' Liquor Bill.

Representative James, of Kentucky, to-day introduced a bill forbidding the Government to issue a license for the sale of liquors in State or locality where prohibition laws are enforced. Mr. James says that in local option counties "blind tigers" can get Government licenses, the result being that they are able to get around the county laws and sell liquor. He believes the passage of his bill will break up the practice and he will personally appear before the committee to which it has been referred and make an argument for a favorable report.

An Army Leper.

Army circles are interested in the case of Sergt. Mix, of the Fifth coast artillery, on duty in Ft. Screven, Ga. The soldier is being treated for leprosy. He has quarters of his own and does not go outside of a fence and people approach him only within talking distance. The treatment he has received is proving satisfactory, but to-day the War Department ordered his company to Maine. The result is that Mix is unable to make the trip he will probably be transferred to the new company and remain at Ft. Screven.

Immigration Station.

In a communication to Congress to-day Mr. Stinson, Secretary of the Department of Commerce and Labor, makes a strong plea for the establishment of an immigration station at New Orleans. The Secretary asks for an appropriation of $70,000 for this purpose and says an immigration station is undoubtedly needed at the big Southern port.

New Invention.

Consul General B. H. Ridgely, of Barcelona, calls attention to a very practical new Spanish device in the form of an "inclosure for bottles, flagons and other receptacles," which has been invented and will soon be put upon the market. A patent for this invention has also been applied for in the United States. Its use is to prevent the liquid contained in bottles and other similar vessels from being

"The Red Face"

A Little Sermion on Soap

The "Resinol" in this Soap not only makes it healing, soothing, nutrient, and delightfully comforting to the skin, but it also makes that Soap Antiseptic—Surgically Clean, and free from all collected or transmitted Disease-Germs.

This fact is tremendously significant at a time when Physicians claim that ordinary Soaps are hot-beds for the breeding of Bacteria and a prolific source of Skin-Disease contagion.

Resinol Soap makes a bland, creamy, soothing lather rich in Nutrients that feed the skin into a smooth, uncrinkled, satin-like condition of health. It heals the slight scratches, sunburn, wind-chaps, and chafings that form foothold for infection with current Skin diseases.

Its constant use lessens the hyperemic condition of over-floated skins, while daily massage with its creamy lather will bring more color to the Anemic or over-pale face.

Resinol Soap has a faint fragrance like that of real, old-time Russia Leather, and its use leaves "a pleasant farewell after it."

It costs 25 Cents at the Druggist's, but each cake should last over two months.

For Toilet, Bath, Shaving, Hair-washing, and Baby's use, it has no equal.

Is a dollar per year too much to pay for Toilet Luxury plus absolute Insurance against Skin-disease Contagion?

But "Resinol" is not, in itself, advertised to the General Public. It is referred to here only as the vital factor in "Resinol Soap," which makes that Soap superior to all others, and worth many times its price.

DOCTORS call it "Hyper-emia." Too much blood in the skin—a sort of congestion, through distended blood vessels—excess of Surface circulation. Can it be controlled?

Yes, assuredly—by correct treatment and a little attention.

"Resinol," for instance, the Skin-Specific, has this peculiar quality of stimulating the smaller vessels of the skin, and soothing the surplus blood back to its proper local circulation.

It is to this control of Hyperemia, and to its anodyne quality of securing "Therapeutic Rest," that Resinol owes, in part, its wonderful success with Physicians in treating obstinate Skin Diseases and Sturgeous Sores that other treatment fails to heal.

Woman's Friend

No woman's happiness can be complete without children; it is her nature to love and want them as much as it is to love the beautiful and pure. The critical ordeal through which the expectant mother must pass, however, is so fraught with dread, pain, suffering and danger, that the very thought of it fills her with apprehension and horror. There is no necessity for the reproduction of life to be either painful or dangerous. The use of Mother's Friend so prepares the system for the coming event that it is safely passed without any danger. This remedy is always applied externally, and has carried thousands of women through the trying crisis without suffering.

Send for free book containing information of prices and value of all expectant mothers. The Bradford Regulator Co., Atlanta, Ga.
